I did not encounter any error messages

What unexpected behavior did your program exhibit?

My program did not exhibit any unexpected behavior.

What caused the issue? (e.g., syntax error, logic error, incorrect function usage, etc.)

There are no issues; therefore, nothing was wrong. If I had to say something, I didn't initially know how to use years in that code, and I had to learn how to use (years++ ;) that properly.

Include a screenshot of specific lines of code.

```
while (principal < target) {
    principal += principal * interestRate;
    years++;

How did you fix the issue?

I tried it myself; I didn't run it, and then eventually googled it because i knew it was incorrect
